THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

*THURSDAY, JULY 10 THRU
SUNDAY, JULY 13, 2003*

CAMP DIRECTOR,

DONNEE L. GRAY

STAFF DIRECTOR,

WILLIE L.A. JONES

School Philosophy . . . To provide officials who wish to advance to the next level and, men and/or women who desire to become officials, with the necessary tools to grow and enhance their officiating skill and knowledge.

The philosophy of officiating, pre-game conferences, game management (e.g. handling of coaches, players), signals, and many other officiating topics are discussed in detail. Officiating techniques are demonstrated by veteran officials. Classroom discussions, demonstrations, films and video viewing of on-court officiating are also used as teaching tools. A strong emphasis is placed on individualized instruction, team officiating, and mechanics.

Break-out sessions are used to discuss areas that are commonly misunderstood. The staff will work with you individually to provide team and leadership skills. The staff will also provide you with verbal and written critiques.

We generally have various collegiate supervisors attend the School as guest speakers and also to observe officials. Many of our past school participants have been selected to work higher level basketball after being observed by various collegiate supervisors.

We invite you to participate and enjoy what many of our participants have described as a stepping stone experience in their basketball officiating career.

Staff . . . The staff is comprised of a number of outstanding veteran men and women basketball officials who work different conferences. The blend of skill, knowledge, experience and leadership provides a solid foundation for anyone who commits to take the job of officiating seriously.

The staff director, Willie L.A. Jones, has been an official for more than twenty-five years. Mr. Jones coordinates the assignments for staff and school participants.

Staff members include: Athena Argyroupolas, Gene Crawford, Daniel Breno, Bernard Clinton, Sean Corbin, Reginald Greenwood, Luis Grillo, Alonzo Holloway, Cheryl Ingram; Wainwright Jackson, Carolyn Jones, Joseph Mitchell, Joseph Palmer, Ike Relacion, Tommie Scott, Charles Stovall, Ben Vasconcells, Charles Waugh, Phil Zucchi and many others. These men and women officiate in the NBA, ACC, Atlantic 10, Big East, Big Ten, CAA, CIAA, ECAC, MAAC, Northeast, and Big South conferences.

Director . . . Donnee Gray, officiates in the Big East, Big Ten, Atlantic-10, Big 12, Conference USA, Horizon, CIAA, Southern, and Sun Belt basketball conferences. Donnee's collegiate accomplishments include: NCAA Men's Division I Tournament (1989-2003); 2003 NCAA Final Four Semi-Final game in New Orleans, LA; 2000 NCAA Final Four Semi-Final game in Indianapolis, IN; 1998 NCAA Final Four Championship Game in San Antonio, TX; Big East Conference Tournament (1997 – 2003); Big Ten Conference Tournament (1998-2003); Atlantic 10 Conference Championship Game (1998-2002); NIT Semi-Final (1997; 2003), and, the NIT Championship (1996). Donnee is currently the Supervisor of Officials for the Mid-Atlantic College Basketball Officials Association (MACBOA). He assigns officials for all of the Junior Colleges in the State of Maryland and several independent Division II schools.

Guest Lecturers . . . As in years past, we expect to have several men's and women's Supervisors and Coordinators of Officials from different collegiate conferences attend this camp. Many participants of the camp have been recruited by these individuals to work different conferences. Included among those are Art Hyland, Supervisor of Officials for the Big East Conference; Brenda Gelston, Supervisor of Officials for Women, Colonial Athletic Association; Jim Burch, Supervisor of the Southern Conference and the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA); Edgar Cottoto, Supervisor of Officials for the Northeast Conference; and Brad Tracy, Supervisor of Officials for the MAAC.
